

Kemmons Wilson foundation to fund science scholarships

Memphis Business Journal - June 14, 2006

The Kemmons Wilson Family Foundation of Memphis will provide a $250,000 scholarship fund for juniors and seniors majoring in the sciences at Christian Brothers University.

The annual scholarships, called the Wilson Science Scholarships, will be awarded to sciences majors maintaining a 3.0 grade point average and a full academic schedule, and who are involved in community service activities and are renewable for qualified students.

The Kemmons Wilson Family Foundation is a family-run foundation and honors the legacy of giving established by Dorothy and Kemmons Wilson. The Foundation supports community outreach and development, enrichment programs for youth and education, faith-based ministries and health and research organizations

Brother Vincent Malham, CBU's president, said the school is grateful for the gift.

"This gift will support students pursuing studies in the sciences, an area of strategic importance to the future of our region and the nation," he said.

Robert Wilson, executive vice president, Kemmons Wilson Inc., said the family is equally proud of the new partnership between the foundation and CBU.

"CBU continues its rich history of providing excellent academic programs in the sciences and the university's reputation of preparing outstanding alumni is well known," Wilson said.
